

How Will You Successfully Transition to Professional Life?

*“This course taught me a key lesson: the power of a wide network and how to create one.”
~ Sebastian M., Class of 2020, Queens University of Charlotte*

The Transition to Work program (T2W) helps increase self-confidence and teaches valuable skills that will prepare and assist adults with their transition to the professional setting. This virtual seminar will help adults learn how to navigate the realities of the professional world and form new relationships beyond networking. Sessions are led by recognized, tenured business professionals and will include key strategies that can be applied immediately to make the jump successfully to the workforce.

This program is based upon the foundational principles of the recognized and successful Transition to University (T2U) program. The T2U program has been shown to be highly successful in helping young adults make the transition from high school to college, with participants reporting greater confidence and positive adjustment to their new setting. This important developmental transition and research is highlighted in the Transition to Success book series by Melinda S. Harper, Ph.D. and Christine L. Allegretti, Ph.D. (Momentum Press). This program has now been revised for adult professionals to help them succeed in their transition to the workforce.

This three-hour virtual seminar features a variety of guest speakers who will discuss important topics including:

- Being Social Matters: How to Connect, Network & “Never Eat Alone”
- Develop your Professional Brand (aka elevator speech!)
- How Social media is social capital and invest in your future
- How to Stand Out in a Pile: What your resume says about you!
- Strategies for reducing performance anxiety on Interview Day
